About the Conference:

Violence against women and Girls (VAWG) is highly prevalent and globally, 1 in 3 women worldwide have experienced physical and/or sexual violence by an intimate partner or sexual violence by any perpetrator in their lifetime. In fact, World Health Organization, UN Women, Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights and other national and international agencies have conducted studies highlighting the phenomenal increase in violence against women during every type of emergency, including the Pandemic- COVID-19. In order to align the growing global momentum to stop violence against women and girls the webinar is organized to focus on the legal framework to prevent and respond to violence against women. Laws increasingly criminalize such violence, ensure the prosecution and punishment of perpetrators, empower and support victims, and strengthen prevention. Victims are also benefiting from civil remedies. Different Forms of violence against women like Sex selective abortions, Female infanticide, forced Child marriage; female genital mutilation, incest; child prostitution and pornography, acid throwing, Rape, domestic violence , intimate partner violence, trafficking, honour killings, sexual abuse, online harassments. Further, a reference was made to the Dowry Prohibition Act and a detailed note on applicability of section 498A of IPC vis a vis section 304B. In addition to criminal law the Protection of Women on Domestic Violence Act, 2005. Scope for improvement through literacy and Awareness, Gender training, improving the status of woman within society, Changing perceptions for women, Documentation on the prevalence and the health consequences of domestic violence, Sensitized police and Trained medical social worker.

Concept Note:

The Indian English writing has a great history; it was started during British Raj. It has now grown into a mature language which has a luscious fruits, aromatic flowers, and strong leaves. This literature has not read and listens only by the Indians but also foreigners too. Ravindrnath Tagore, Sri Aurobindo, R.K. Narayan, and Raja Rao were the beginners to introduce Indian English Literature to the world Literature. Since before India's independence, poets, novelists, essayists, and dramatists from India have made significant and historic contributions to world literature. However, in recent years, Indian English writing has experienced enormous growth and success on the international stage. In the context of world literature, Indian English literature has gained an independent place. The topics covered in Indian Writing in English cover a wide range. It has been attempting to represent the Indian experience of the modern issues, even while this literature continues to reflect Indian culture, custom, social values, and even Indian history through the depiction of life in India and Indians living abroad. One of the most noteworthy gifts of English education to India, according to Prof. M. K. Naik, is prose fiction. Although story-telling originated in India, the novel as we know it today was an import from the west.

• Concept Note:

Anna Bhau Sathe; an eminent personality, imprinted his mark on socio political, cultural and world literature as a social reformer and writer. Despite of lack of formal education due to penury he penned 32 novels, 11 short stories, 15 ballads and 1 travelogue that reflects experiential world of depressed common people. Most of his work has been translated into Indian and foreign languages. Though born in marginalized community, his work appears as a phenomenon that offers new perspectives on various issues. His writings created a new consciousness that proved to be a significant factor in framing the contemporary Socio-political and cultural movement in Maharashtra. He sacrificed his entire life for society in general and workers in particular. Thus, his literary work remains a source of inspiration for humankind. The purpose of this Interdisciplinary National Conference is to bring together students, researchers, academicians and litterateurs under one ceiling to discuss and spread new global consciousness and perspectives about Anna Bhau Sathe's literary endeavors as well as social contribution.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE:

After the independence in India, developments were made in several areas considering the well-being of women within the society. Many programs and schemes were formulated with an objective of bringing progress among women. The main aspect was encouraging women towards acquisition of education and participation in the employment settings to promote women empowerment. But even after the 75 years of independence, in rural India in spite of initiating the measures and policies, women are regarded as subordinates to men. Unfortunately, today throughout the country, women and girls are subjected to abuse and mistreatment. But with the advent of globalization and industrialization, women are obtaining development opportunities. Women, from urban areas are mainly improving their livelihoods through gaining good education and attaining employment opportunities. They have been rendering a significant contribution in the development of human resources. Hence, it is necessary to encourage them for participating in the decision making processes, acquiring educational opportunities, getting engaged in employment and sustaining their livelihoods in an enhanced manner. The main areas that have been taken into account for this conference include status of women in post-independence India, empowerment of women, gender issues in post-independent India, political participation of women and problems of working women.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE:

- To analyse the status of women in post-independent India,
- To know the empowerment level of women after independence.
- To assess the gender issues in post-independent India.
- To know the status of political participation of women and social status and problems of women.
- To encourage women for participating in the decision making processes, acquiring educational opportunities, getting engaged in employment and sustaining their livelihoods in an enhanced manner.

• About Conference:

After the introduction of National Education Policy 2022, NAAC has decided to incorporate the preparedness for NEP 2020 in the Higher Education Institutions. In this perspective it has become necessary for all higher education institutions to portray plan of institution to transform itself in terms of National Education Policy 2022. The NEP indicates a huge milestone for India's Education system and this will certainly make India an attractive destination for higher education world-wide. NEP is based on the pillars of "Access, Equity, Quality, Affordability and Accountability" this will transform India into a vibrant knowledge hub. NEP 2020 highlights systemic and institutional improvements to regulation, governance and promotion of multi disciplinary academics and research in Indian HEIs and concentrates on fetching the much-needed transformational changes in the Indian education system with a global perspective.

With the new policy, early childhood education has been brought in the realms of mainstream education for the first time. Skill-based learning is being prioritised with greater use and implementation of modern technologies. A multi-disciplinary, value-based approach to education focussing on holistic development along with life-skills training has been suggested in the policy to improve employability of students. Though the NEP 2020 is path-breaking, the lack of a clear roadmap for implementation of the proposals in it is delaying the much-needed educator sector reforms, which is crucial for sustaining India's future growth. There are certain challenges that the government must also address to expedite the implementation process. In order to discuss on various challenges and opportunities for implementation of NEP 2020, amongst students, Faculty members and Educational experts this Seminar / Conference has been planned.

• Objectives of the Conference:

1. To discuss about various challenges and opportunities of NEP 2020
2. To focus on the challenges that government must address to expedite education reforms
3. To increase the efforts involved in process of improving and accelerating the Digital Higher Education infrastructure
