Sir Ronald Ross

Day:01 (19.08.2022)

World Mosquito Day, observed annually on 20 August, is a commemoration of British doctor Sir Ronald Ross's discovery in 1897 that female anopheline mosquitoes transmit malaria to humans. Prior to the discovery of the transmitting organism, vector, there were few means for controlling the spread of the disease although the discovery of quinine in the treatment had alleviated the problem of treatment.

Glimps of Talk

The resource person Professor Laxmikant Shinde talk on the topic Mosquito: A Tiny Creature of Deadly Disease on 19/08/2022. He explained the mosquito species in the world more than 3000 species and their role to spreads mosquito-borne diseases like Malaria which is caused by the transmission of plasmodium into the body by a female Anopheles mosquito. These mosquitoes generally bite at night. Plasmodium is a type of parasitic protozoa. Vivax and Falciparum are the common species of Plasmodium found in India. Dengue is transmitted to humans by female Aedes mosquitoes. These mosquitoes carry the dengue virus (DEN), which comprises four distinct serotypes (DEN-1, DEN-2, DEN-3, and DEN-4) and belong to the Flaviviridae family. The dengue mosquito commonly bites during the daytime or before dusk. Chikungunya is also transmitted by the same female Aedes mosquitoes that spread dengue. It is caused by the RNA virus that belongs to the alphavirus genus of the Togaviridae family. chikungunya, and Lymphatic filariasis, commonly known as elephantiasis, is a painful and profoundly disfiguring disease. It is caused by infection with parasites classified as nematodes (roundworms) of the family Filariodidea that are transmitted through the bites of infected mosquitos.

He also gives the preventive measures of mosquitos-related diseases that if mosquitos breeding is detected then steps must be taken to eliminate it by covering all water containers emptying and drying water tanks, coolers, bird baths, pet water bowls, and drip trays at least once a week. He has also discussed the economical aspects of mosquitos-related diseases in all over the India and World.

Principal Dr. Vishwas. S. Khandare gives the session remarks. Dr. Tanvir Pathan introduce the speaker and Vote of thanks by Dr. Santosh Rankhamb.
